

Title of activity: ADHA Integrated Care Summit

Activity location: Broomfield, CO

Activity description: Health happens everywhere — in the dental chair, the doctor’s office, and the conversations that connect them. Bridging Health is an immersive two-day interprofessional symposium and workshop designed to unite oral health and medical professionals to advance whole-person care. Unlike traditional conferences, this experience blends evidence-based learning with wellness and connection. Attendees will engage in hands-on workshops, networking receptions, and restorative wellness activities—from yoga and guided mindfulness to golf and spa offerings—creating a holistic environment for both collaboration and renewal. Together, we’ll move from theory to practice and build systems that close the gaps between oral, medical and behavioral health.

Target audience: Dental Hygienists, Dentists, Dental Therapists, Dental Educators, Physicians, Nurses, Nurse Practitioners, Physician Assistants, Psychologists, Counselors, Social Workers, Behavioral Health Specialists, Pharmacists, Program Directors, Administrators, Policy Professionals, Health Educators, Academic Faculty, Students, and Early Career Professionals

In accordance with the ACCME Standards for Integrity and Independence, the Association of Diabetes Care & Education Specialists (ADCES) requires anyone in a position to affect or control continuing education content (e.g., authors, presenters, and program planners) to disclose all financial relationships with ineligible companies. It is the responsibility of ADCES to mitigate and disclose all relevant conflicts of interest. Disclosure of a relationship is not intended to suggest or condone bias in any presentation but is made to provide participants with information that might be of potential importance to their evaluation of the presentation.
